What's next for Callan Park? An opportunity to have your say.

Dear Friends,

Your views are wanted to determine what is next for Callan Park...

As previously notified, the government is not going to approve the 2011 Master Plan commissioned by Leichhardt Council.

Instead, the government (NSW Office of Environment & Heritage) has hired the urban design firm TYRRELL STUDIO and architecture and urban design consultancy TERROIR to provide advice on 'transitioning Callan Park and Broughton Hall into ongoing use as a large urban parkland'.

So far, the consultants have undertaken an "Information Review" that collates, synthesises and reviews the significant amount of documentation associated with the Callan Park site to date.

The report includes a review of the previous plans proposed for Callan Park, community surveys, key stakeholders, summary of the legislation, current and previous mental health policies, built form and landscape site history and analysis, demographic studies, open space and transport planning plans for the region and precedent studies of parklands of a similar scale to Callan Park.

Now TYRRELL STUDIO and TERROIR want to consult with you, the community, to confirm your needs and values regarding Callan Park. They acknowledge consultation from the 2011 Master Plan and previous plans and are seeking to confirm whether these values are still held or whether additional issues have arisen in the last 7 years. Here are the times and places where you can let the consultants know what you think is best for Callan Park.

Sunday, 11 February	8:30 am – 12:30 pm anytime	End of Wharf Rd in Callan Park
Sunday, 25 February	8:30 am – 12:30 pm anytime	End of Wharf Rd in Callan Park

Some of the questions being asked are: What is the right balance of active and passive recreation on the site? What should the buildings be used for? Should some of the buildings be taken down to provide for a more accessible urban parkland? What are your thoughts about Waterfront Drive? Where should there be pedestrian pathways? Shared or not shared? Where should people park? And many more questions ...

The Friends are seeking more comprehensive public consultation than appears currently proposed and financial commitments from the state government (otherwise these plans will remain pipe dreams).

In the meantime, your views are needed! Please come to the end of Wharf Road on Sunday, 11 February or Sunday 25 February between 8:30 am and 12:30 pm and let the consultants know your views.

Yours for Callan Park
